The General Directors ensures to follow all the requirements of the Vietnamese Accounting Standards and System issued in accordance with the Circular No, 99/2025/TT-BTC dated 27 October 2025 of the Ministry of Finance.

IV. APPLICABLE ACCOUNTING POLICIES:

1. Changes in accounting policies and disclosures :

The accounting policies adopted by the Company in preparation of the interim financial statements are consistent with those followed in the preparation of the Company's annual financial statements for the year ended 31/12.

2. Types of exchange rates to be applied in accounting and the principle of accounting for exchange rate differences:

- Transactions in foreign currencies are converted into Vietnam dong at the actual exchange rate at the time of the transaction.

- Actual exchange rates when assessing the monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies at the date of the financial statements: As the exchange rate announced by commercial banks where regular business transactions in accordance with the following principles:

+ Actual exchange rates when revaluation of monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are classified as assets: The purchase of foreign currency exchange rates of the commercial banks where regular business transactions at the time of making Financial report. For foreign currency accounts in banks, the real exchange rate when the revaluation is the buying rate of the bank where businesses open foreign currency accounts.

+ Actual exchange rates when revaluation of monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are classified as liabilities is the rate of sale of foreign currency by commercial banks at the time the financial statements;

Foreign exchange differences arising in the period actual and exchange rate differences due to revaluation of balance of monetary items at the end of the period are recorded into income or financial expenses in the period.

3. The principle for determining the real interest rate (effective interest rate) used to discount cash flows.

The entity applies the effective interest rate method to determine the allocation value and interest revenue/expense incurred during the period. This interest rate is determined at the start of the transaction and includes the nominal interest rate and any fees, discounts, or surpluses that are components of the effective interest rate.

4. Cash and cash equivalents:

Cash and cash equivalents include cash on hand, cash at bank and short term, highly liquid investments with an original maturity of less than 3 months that are readily convertible into known amounts of cash and that are subject to an insignificant risk of change in value.

5. Recognition of receivables :

Receivables are presented in the financial statements at the carrying amounts include commercial receivables generating from purchase-sale related transactions from sales, services and non-commercial or non-trading receivables. Allowance for doubtful debts are made when an overdue debt is unrecoverable according to time in which the principal is repaid according to the sale contract (exclusive of the debt rescheduling between contracting parties), or according to impairment expect to occur. Receivables are unrecoverable shall be eliminated.

6. Principle of evaluating inventories :

Inventories are stated at original cost. The cost of inventories should comprise all costs of purchase, costs of conversion and other costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition. The cost of inventory at the year-end is calculated by weighted average method.

- The Corporation applies the perpetual method to record inventory.
- Provisions for inventory obsolescence made at the end of the year are the excess of original cost of inventory over their net realizable value.

7. Recognition of prepaid expenses:

Prepaid expenses record actual expenses that have arisen but are related to the results of business activities in many accounting periods. The Company's prepaid expense includes the following costs:

Tools and equipments

Tools and instruments put into use are amortized on a straight-line basis over a period of no more than 3 years.

Other prepaid expenses

Other prepaid expenses are amortized to expenses on a straight-line basis with amortization period not exceeding 3 years.

8. Principles of recognition and depreciation of fixed assets and Financial lease fixed assets and investment real estate:

Principles of recognition of fixed assets (tangible, invisible, financial leasing): recorded at the original price.

Method of depreciation of fixed assets: straight line depreciation method.

9. Principles of accrued expenses :

Actual expenses have not incurred but are deducted from production and business expenses in the year to ensure when the actual expenses are not causing mutations for production and business costs on the basis of ensuring the original. Suitable between revenue and cost. When those costs arise, if there is a difference with the quoted number, the accountant proceeds to Total or reduce the cost reduction corresponding to the difference.

10. Construction in progress:

Construction in progress represents directly related costs (including interest expenses related in accordance with the Company's accounting policy) to assets in construction progress, machinery and equipment being installed for production, rental and management purposes as well as expenses related to the repair of fixed assets in progress. These assets are recorded at cost and not depreciated.

11. Principles for Recognizing Borrowings

The Company must monitor the maturity date of each loan. Loans with a repayment period of more than 12 months from the date of preparation of the Financial Statements are presented as long-term borrowings and finance lease liabilities. Loans due within the next 12 months from the date of preparation of the Financial Statements are presented as short-term borrowings and finance lease liabilities for planning repayment.

Loans in foreign currencies must be converted into the accounting currency at the actual transaction rate at the time of origination;

- When repaying a loan in foreign currency, the debit side of account 341 is converted according to the actual cost accounting rate for each object;
- In preparing the financial statements, the balances of loans in foreign currencies must be revalued at the actual transaction rate at the time of preparation of the financial statements.

Exchange rate differences arising from the payment and revaluation of end-of-period loans in foreign currencies are accounted for in financial income or expenses.

Investments held to maturity are valued at the amount that can actually be recovered.

At the time of preparing the Financial Statements, accountants must revalue all investments that are classified as monetary items in foreign currencies according to the actual transaction rate at the end of the period:

- The exchange rate applied to cash deposits in foreign currencies is the buying rate of the commercial bank where the enterprise has opened a cash deposit account;
- The exchange rate applied to other held-to-maturity investments is the buying rate of the bank where the enterprise regularly transacts (at the enterprise's discretion).

12. Recognition of owner's equity:

Owner's investment capital

The investment capital of the owner is recorded according to the actual capital contributed by the owner.

Treasury shares

When repurchasing shares issued by the Company, the amount paid, including transaction-related expenses, is recognized as treasury shares and is reflected as a deduction in owner's equity. When reissuing, the difference between the reissue price and the book value of the treasury shares is recorded in the "Share Premium" item.

13. Recognition of Revenue :

- Revenue from sales of goods

* Most of the risks and rewards associated with ownership of the product or its goods have been transferred to the buyer.

* The Company no longer holds control over the goods such as the ownership of the goods have been transferred to buyers.

* Revenue is determined relatively solid;

* The Company has received or will receive economic benefits from the sale.

* The costs related to the sale transaction is determined.

-Revenue from the provision of services is recognized when the results of that service transaction can be determined reliably. In cases where the provision of services relates to multiple periods, revenue is recognized during the year based on the proportion of work completed as of the date of preparing the Statement of Financial Position for that period. The result of the service transaction is determined when all of the following conditions are met:

* Revenue can be determined relatively reliably

* It is likely that economic benefits will be received from the service transaction;

* The percentage of completed work can be determined as of the date of preparing the Statement of Financial Position;

* The costs incurred for the transaction and the costs to complete the service can be determined.

- Financial income :

Revenue arising from interest, royalties, dividends, and profit sharing and other financial revenues is recognized when the following two (02) conditions are met simultaneously:

- * It is likely that economic benefits will be received from the transaction;
 - * Revenue can be determined relatively reliably.
- Construction contract revenue.
 - Other income.

14. Principles for recognizing Cost of Goods Sold:

The cost of goods sold reflects the cost of goods sold, products sold, services sold, and expenses related to real estate investment activities.

15. Principle of financial expenses.

The expenses recorded in financial expenses include:

- Costs or losses related to financial investment activities;
- Loan cost;
- The losses due to changes in exchange rate of the arising operations related to foreign currencies.
- The above amounts are recorded according to the total arising in the year, not offset with financial activities.

16. Recognition of sales expense and management expenses:

Sale expenses reflect the actual costs incurred in the process of selling products or goods or providing services, including the costs of offering goods, introducing products, advertising products, sales commissions, expenses for product and goods warranty (except for construction activities), expenses for preservation, packing and transportation.

Management expenses reflect general management expenses of the enterprise, including expenses for salaries of employees of the enterprise management sections (salaries, wages, allowances ...); social insurance, health insurance, trade union funds, unemployment insurance of enterprise managers; expenses for office materials, labor tools, depreciation of fixed assets used for enterprise management; land rent, excise tax; provision for bad debts; Outbound services (electricity, water, telephone, fax, property insurance, fire and explosion); Other monetary expenses (guest reception, customer conference ...).

17. Distribution of Profits

Net profit after corporate income tax is distributed to shareholders after setting up funds in accordance with the resolution of the General Meeting of Shareholders and the provisions of law.

When distributing profits to shareholders, the non-monetary items within the retained earnings that could affect cash flow and the ability to pay dividends are taken into consideration, such as gains from revaluing assets contributed as capital, gains from revaluing monetary items, financial instruments, and other non-monetary items.

Dividends are recognized as a liability when approved by the General Meeting of Shareholders.

18. Recognition of current corporate income tax:

The current CIT expense is determined on the basis of taxable income. Taxable income is different from accounting profit due to adjustments of temporary differences between tax and accounting, non-deductible expenses as well as adjustments of non-taxable income and transferred losses.
